Major E. H. Barclay, editor of the Lexington Gazette, is a candidate for Congress, in the Tenth Congressional District. He is a true blue Democrat. It is not often a Virginia country editor aspires to Congress, and, in this instance, we would be pleased to see the Major's ambition gratified.—Leesburg Washingtonian.

Major E. H. Barclay, for twenty-seven years the editor of the Lexington Gazette, has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Tenth District. Major Barclay carries an empty sleeve as a testimonial of his devotion to Virginia in the hour of her need, which together with his long service in the ranks of the party, should entitle him to this reward.—Leesburg Mirror.

Major E. H. Barclay, of the Lexington Gazette, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Tenth Virginia District. Major Barclay lost one arm in defense of his native State during the war and for twenty-seven years past has used the other in advocating such measures as he believed to be for the best interests of the Commonwealth. He is a true and tried Virginian, a thorough Democrat, and would do credit to the gallant Tenth District in the halls of Congress.—Hampton Monitor.

Mr. E. H. Barclay, editor of the Lexington Gazette, is a candidate for Congress from the Tenth District. He has been a true and faithful Democrat, and his record as a citizen and soldier is in his favor. He would be a great improvement on the present incumbent.—Hon. Jacob Yost.

Mr. Barclay desires to take the tide at the flood, but he may be overwhelmed by a tideless flood.—Halifax Independent.

Mr. F. H. Barclay, of Lexington, Va., editor of the Gazette of that town has announced himself as a candidate for Congressional honors in his Tenth District. Hon. H. D. Flood, of that District, is likely to be an aspirant for the same honors, so that our brother of the quill will have to put on his war paint in earnest if he wins. Mr. Barclay has been for twenty-seven years editor of the Gazette, always a staunch Democratic paper. Such devotion deserves reward, and we wish him success.—Eastern Shore Herald.

From the Virginia Zeitung, a German paper published at Richmond, Va. A translation:

Col. E. H. Barclay, since 27 years editor of the Lexington, Va., "Gazette," a one-armed Confederate Veteran and a true follower a defender of the Democratic principles, who has a heart upon the right place for his fellow citizens and also warm defender of the raising of immigration to Va. solicits himself for a candidate for the Tenth Congress District of our State. We would be pleased if the Democrats of this District nominate him and also elect him with a large majority.—Virginia Zeitung.

Judging from the multiplicity of candidates for nomination by the Democrats of the Tenth District for congressional honors, Jacob Yost's scalp is in imminent danger. Added to the previous announcements of Hon. H. D. Flood, Captain Opie and Major E. H. Barclay, is that of Judge J. M. Quarles. Why Staunton should put forward two candidates, thus each weakening the strength of the other, is an unexplained conundrum. It is an admirable quartette from which to select a candidate from the Tenth or any other District, among whom not the least qualified is Major E. H. Barclay, the veteran editor of the Lexington Gazette, which has always been an able exponent and fearless defender of Democracy in the hour of defeat as well as of victory. An empty coat sleeve attests his loyalty to principle and the right as he and thousands of his fellow citizens saw it in the 60's. Major Barclay is a thorough man of affairs, methodical, level-headed and progressive, and, if nominated and elected, would render valuable service to the people of the Tenth District, irrespective of party.—Roanoke World.

SUPPLIES CONFISCATED.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 28.—Passengers from Havana announce that a big cargo of medical stores and clothing shipped from New York and consigned to the Mother Superior of the Sacred Heart of Jesus at Havana, for distribution among the Cuban reconcentrados has been seized, condemned and sold by the Spanish customs authorities.

A LITTLE SUFFERER

Face, Hands and Arms Covered With Scrofulous Humors—How a Cure Was Effected.

"When five years ago my little boy had scrofula on his face, hands and arms. It was worst on his chin, at length the sores on his cheeks and hands were very bad. It appeared in the form of red pimples which would fester, break open and run and then scab over. After disappearing they would break out again. They caused intense itching and the little sufferer had to be watched continually to keep him from scratching the sores. We became really alarmed at his condition. My wife's mother had had scrofula and the only medicine which had helped her was Hood's Sarsaparilla. We decided to give it to our boy and we noted an improvement in his case very soon. After giving him four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla the humor had all been driven out of his blood and it has never since returned."

TELLER RESOLUTION WINS.

Passed by the Senate by a Vote of Forty-Seven to Thirty-Two.

Washington, Jan. 28.—After a debate, animated at all times and occasionally acrimonious, which occupied the greater part of this week, the Senate this evening, by the decisive vote of 47 to 32, passed the Teller resolution, a practical reaffirmation of that of Stanley Matthews in 1878, and is as follows:

"That all the bonds of the United States, issued or authorized to be issued, under the said acts of Congress, hereinafter recited, are payable, in principal and interest, at the option of the Government of the United States in silver dollars of the coinage of the United States containing 412½ grains each of standard silver; and that to restore to its coinage such silver coins as a legal tender in payment of said bonds, principal and interest, is not in violation of the public faith nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

All efforts to amend the resolution were voted down by majorities ranging from five to twenty-nine. Mr. Lodge's gold-standard substitute was defeated by the latter majority. The vote on the Lodge amendment was: Yeas, 24; nays, 53.

THE VOTE ON THE RESOLUTION.

The vote on the Teller resolution resulted as follows:

Yeas—Allen, Bacon, Bate, Berry, Butler, Cannon, Carter, Chandler, Clinton, Clark, Clay, Cockrell, Daniel, Gray, Harris, Heitfield, Jones, (Arkansas), Kennedy, Kyle, Lindsay, McHenry, McLaurin, Mallory, Martie, Martin, Mills, Mitchell, Money, Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Pettigrew, Pettus, Fritchard, Rawlings, Roach, Shoup, Smith, Stewart, Teller, Tillman, Turpie, Turner, Vest, Warren, White, and Wolcott—47.

Nays—Aldrich, Allison, Baker, Burrows, Caffery, Cullom, Davis, Fairbanks, Forsaker, Gallinger, Gear, Ha'e, Hanna, Hansbrough, Hawley, Hoar, Lodge, McBryde, McMillan, Mason, McNeill, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt, (Connecticut), Platt, (New York), Quay, Sewell, Thurston, Wellington, Wetmore, and Wilson—32.

The pairs throughout the voting were as follows: Turley with Deboe; Faulkner with Elkins; Gorman with Frye; Jones, (Nevada), with Prator; Walhall with Spooner. The first-named vote in each case have voted with those sustaining the resolution and against all amendments, while the last named would have voted against the resolution and for the amendments.

There was no demonstration on the announcement of the final vote, and at 7 p. m., on motion of Mr. Allison, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

THE FIRE CLAY AND ROOFING TILE COMPANY.

[Buena Vista Herald.] This industry, which is destined to be one of the most important in our city, is moving along slowly but surely on to that success which it so well deserves. Mr. Quandt, the president, is thoroughly educated in the art of clay working, and anything he undertakes will be done right. For the last two or three weeks he has had a couple of clay workers from Baltimore assisting him in making a nice lot of "terra cotta" work for the College Hill Baptist church, at Lynchburg. This work is about completed, and when put up will become another great advertisement for the work done by this company. Our people should encourage this enterprise by speaking of it to strangers, and patronizing it whenever they need anything in this line.

FIFTY MAJORITY AGAINST IT.

The Teller Resolution Buried in The House of Representatives.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The House of Representatives to-day buried the Teller resolution, declaring the bonds of the United States payable in silver under an adverse majority of fifty votes. The Republicans were solidly arrayed in opposition, with two exceptions, Mr. Linney, of North Carolina, who voted with the Democrats and Populists, and White, of North Carolina, who answered "present" when his name was called. Those leaving the Democratic side were Mr. McAllister, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Elliott, of South Carolina. Both voted with the Republicans against the proposition.

VILLIAM J. BRYAN.

The attempt on the part of the gold organs to dismiss Hon. William J. Bryan as a "chuck number," a "dead issue," and to relegate him to the limbo of insignificant and forgotten debaters, do not strike us as being particularly happy. Whether they have been inspired by honest ignorance of public sentiment throughout the country or are mere demonstrations of malice and deceit, we do not undertake to say. Perhaps we should accept both explanations with a comparatively divided mind, attributing the ignorance to the East and the deceitful purpose to the West. No newspaper, in the United States has a poorer understanding of popular opinion than the "great metropolitan dailies," because none are so cock sure of their own omniscience and of the overshadowing importance of the community they represent. To find the true provincial, the hopelessly narrow view of things, one must go to New York. Compared with that big, bumptious and complacent aggregation of pigs, Hogs, Texas, is a veritable emporium. We can easily believe that New Yorkers speak in perfect candor when they say that Mr. Bryan is a closed incident, for they regard their own verdict on a national issue as beyond appeal.

But neither conceit nor misrepresentation will avail to dispose of Mr. Bryan. Every intelligent and comprehensive observer of public events knows that he is stronger with the party to which he is a year ago; that he has lost none of the marvelous personal influence which he exerted during the campaign of 1896; that the principles for which he stands are as ardently espoused by the Democratic masses as they were when Bryan proclaimed them with the fire of his enthusiasm and the witchery of his eloquence. No one need be deceived by the circumstances of the recent campaign in New York city. The fact that Tammany ignored the platform is of no significance. We may admit that, for the immediate purposes of that particular struggle, and in order to recover control of municipal affairs—to rescue Greater New York, in fact, from the dispensation of an impudent and hypocritical tyranny—the Democratic masses consented to the Craker-Whitney program. But that proves nothing. Indeed we may say that even if it involved the permanent rejection of Mr. Bryan and the Chicago declaration on by the New York organization—which it does not—the fact would be of minor consequence. The Democrats of the nation are not under New York control. The millions who voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896 do not look in that direction for guidance and leadership. They would not be moved one hair's breadth from their purpose if New York were to threaten them with absolute secession. They lost New York in 1896. They can afford to lose it in 1900. They have no calculations based upon New York as an indispensable factor in their scheme. They know that Mr. Bryan and the Chicago platform brought out more votes, year before last, than any Democratic candidate ever received before—nearly a million more than Mr. Cleveland had in 1892—and they are content with that record and the brilliant prospect it opens to them in the future.

Let no one imagine that Mr. Bryan is a dead issue. If a Democratic convention were to assemble to-day, he would be without a serious competitor. Unless all political conditions be revolutionized meanwhile, he will be even stronger two years hence.—Washington Post.

VIRGINIA WAR CLAIMS.

In the "omnibus bill" now being considered by the committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives is a large number of claimants in Virginia and West Virginia have been provided for. These are separate from the church claims that are pending before the same committee, and all have been adjudicated by the Court of Claims. It is believed that the bill will pass at some stage of the present session of Congress.

The largest claim in the entire list is that of the heirs of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Randolph Custis Lee (in connection with the famous Arlington estate) for $217,236.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THE SENATE.

A bill has passed the Senate authorizing the County School Board of Highland county to compensate school trustees. Mr. Lecher introduced a bill to incorporate the Lexington Street-Railway, Light, and Power Company.

On motion of Mr. Morris, leave was given a sub-committee from the Committee on Public Institutions and Education to visit the Virginia Institute for the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, Western State Hospital, and Virginia Military Institute.

Mr. Lecher introduced a joint resolution abolishing circuit and county courts and substituting in lieu of district courts. It is provided that these shall not be more than thirty nor less than twenty districts, to be so arranged as to contain as nearly as possible the same number of inhabitants, and to be held in each county of said district at least once every month. The circuit courts are to be invested with the same authority, power, and jurisdiction as county and district courts have at present. Mr. Backus said the change will save $75,000 per annum, retaining the best features of the county court system.

The bill to increase the jurisdiction of county courts as to all matters pertaining to real estate, came up this evening, causing considerable debate. Mr. Munford said he regarded the bill as probably the most important that had come before the Legislature. It would be a great relief to the people, such as they had been given great relief. It would have the effect of placing capital to the country, because it would enable lenders of money to obtain it under legal process as quickly as if loaned in the city. It was very desirable of seeing the bill passed, for the sake, chiefly, of those residing in country districts whose property was of such great importance to the State. It was passed by a large majority.

By a vote of 24 to 9 the Virginia Senate Friday refused to advance to the engrossment the bill to amend the act relating to the bill. This settles its fate. The announcement that the measure was to come up in the Senate today attracted a large attendance of ladies to hear the discussion. Mr. McCune, Republican of Shenandoah, the patron of the bill, opened the debate in its favor. Mr. McCune said he did not object to the bill for political purposes nor to gain notoriety. He presented it at the request of some of the best Christian men and women in this State, who were looking to the General Assembly to enact a law to protect the young ladies of Virginia. The Senator then read extracts from letters written to him by educators asking the passage of the act. He said the reason he read these letters was that some papers outside of Virginia had said he had offered the measure for political purposes, and he wanted to show that there was a public demand for the bill to be passed.

THE HOUSE.

Mr. R. W. Winburn has introduced in the House of Delegates a bill to prevent running at large of sheep in certain districts in Rockbridge county.

Mr. M. S. Newberry introduced a bill to prohibit life insurance companies from discriminating in favor of individuals as to rates of premiums. The object of the bill is to protect local agents who may come into their fields and cut rates.

Mr. T. E. Clarke introduced a bill to abolish the office of Assessor of Lands, and require the Commissioner of the Revenue to perform the duties of said office, and to compensate said Commissioner for the same. The bill specifies as the compensation of the commissioner of revenue the sum of $150 for executing all the duties now performed by the land assessors.

The following resolution was introduced Friday by Mr. Watkins, and referred: "Be it resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, That it is the sense of the General Assembly that the salaries of all officers of the State be reduced at least 10 per centum."

That the special Committee on Retrenchment and Reform are hereby directed to prepare a bill or bills carrying out the provision of this resolution in all cases where it may be done under the resolution."

Mr. Maupin introduced a bill Saturday to prohibit the several cities and towns of the Commonwealth from imposing and collecting any tax, fee, fine, or other penalty upon persons selling their farm and domestic products within the limits of any such city or town outside of, and not within, the regular market houses and sheds of such cities and towns, and imposing a fine upon any agent or officer of any city or town for collecting any such tax, fee, fine, or other penalty. The bill is to be imposed on an officer collecting such license or fee at $2 for each offense, and provides that when collected it shall be paid into the State Treasury.

TARDY JUSTICE.

During the trial was the Federal a short time ago one of the publishers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Nashville, and was the same for the publication of Federal matter.

Since the arrest of the Methodist Church at Nashville, the Federal has asked for a reimbursement for the damage done by forcibly taking possession of their property. The bill has been in Congress for years and several times has been favorably reported by the committee, but not until the present Congress has the matter been so far.

The bill to pay the Book Publishing Company of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, $288,000, for damages sustained by that corporation during the war, after having encountered an obstinate filibuster, which had staved off a vote on two previous private bills, was piloted to its passage in the House Friday by Mr. Cooper, of Texas, who was in charge of the measure.

The friends of the measure proved themselves in an overwhelming majority, and the opposition finding it could hold out no longer, reluctantly yielded. The vote on the bill was 188 to 67.
